Dear Prospective Student,

The College of Modern Montessori was established in 1981 in London, United Kingdom, and initially The College offered only correspondence courses. The concept of learning the Montessori method was met with such overwhelming enthusiasm all over the world, that we developed the Early Childhood (2½ - 6 year age group) Montessori Teacher Training Course for students who wish to enrol on a more comprehensive course. There are various modes of delivery – specifically, full time and part time and our most recent option – the online and in-residence hybrid course.

Plato said, “necessity is the mother of invention” and with the advent of Covid19 and associated lockdown restrictions in 2020, we introduced online instruction for some of the course components with phenomenal success. We therefore made preparations to formally introduce our online and in-residence hybrid course in 2021. The academic phase of the course is comprised of both online instruction (videos and live lectures) and four, in-residence training components (when students will be required to attend lectures onsite at The Cape Town Montessori School). Students are also required to complete the practicum component, which is comprised of observations and a teaching practice internship at a Montessori school.

I take pleasure in enclosing herewith information on the part time online and in-residence hybrid early childhood Montessori teacher training course and we welcome any questions you may have.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,

OLIVIA DARBY
Director of Studies

7.1.4 Lecture Attendance

- Students are required to attend a minimum of 90% of scheduled hours (online & in residence).
- Students exceeding the maximum 10% absence quota are required to attend private lesson(s), in order to make up academic clock hours.

7.1.5 Course Work

The course director/lecturer sets written work (assessments) during and at the end of each section to establish competence. This is called course work and is included in the academic course component. Course work is comprised of a variety of evaluative measures, which include:

- Essays
- Tests
- Research projects
- Material making
- Book summaries

7.1.6 Course Work Evaluation and Expected Performance

Students are informed of their performance and results thus:

- During the course cycle all written and practical work is marked and returned with a grade.
- Every student is given a comprehensive mark sheet detailing where marks are awarded for each piece of work submitted, which highlights areas of strength and weakness and shows the student precisely what is expected in order to improve.
- The minimum pass mark is 60% (for each piece of assigned work).
- All assigned course work is compulsory and no exemptions will be considered.
- Students must obtain a minimum course work average of 60% in order to gain entrance to the final practical and theory examinations.

7.1.7 Course Work Subject Categories and Final Overall Grade

- An average of the course work grades achieved in each of the following subject area categories is calculated:
  - 1) Montessori Philosophy and Childhood Development
  - 2) Practical Life
  - 3) Sensorial
  - 4) Language
  - 5) Mathematics
  - 6) Art, Music and Religion
  - 7) History and Science
  - 8) Geography
  - 9) Botany and Zoology
  - 10) Observation (Records and Manual)
- An average of all ten subject area categories constitutes the final course work grade, which accounts for  $\frac{1}{3}$  (one third) of the overall course grade, which reflects on the academic transcript and the diploma.

7.1.8 The Final Written Examination

- The written examination is comprised of a 'seen' question and an 'unseen' paper.
- The 'seen' question is released two weeks prior to the examination. Students are required to research the topic; write the essay; learn the essay; and write it under remote examination conditions. Students are allocated 1½ hours to write the essay, which counts for 22% of the written examination mark allocation.
- The 'unseen' paper is comprised of eight essay questions, of which students must choose six to answer. Students are allocated 3 hours to write the 'unseen' examination paper, under remote examination conditions, which counts as 78% of the written examination (13marks per essay are allocated).
- Students must pass the written examination with a minimum grade of 60%.
- The written examination result accounts for ⅓ (one third) of the overall final course grade.

7.2 Practicum Course Component

The practicum is comprised of 408 hours. Specifically, 276 hours of teaching practice; 60 hours (10 x 6 hours) of observation; and 72 hours of supervised teaching.

- Teaching Practice

During teaching practice, students conduct themselves as 'trainee' Montessori Directresses in a real Montessori classroom environment. Teaching practice is the forum for students to put the knowledge and skills acquired during lectures, demonstrations, supervised and private practice into practice.

- Observation

Observation is one of the fundamental cornerstones of the Montessori philosophy. It is only through watching and recording what a child is doing and how he/she behaves, that one is able to assess abilities and strengths and weaknesses. Observation is the act of accurately watching and recording all the facts of a situation as they occur naturally (i.e. a classroom situation), in order to identify the needs of the situation and proceed accordingly.

7.2.1 Practicum Venues (Teaching Practice and Observation Sites)

It is essential that the schools at which students undertake teaching practice and observations are well equipped enough for the students to benefit and that the supervising teachers (directresses) are sufficiently well trained to mentor the students throughout their practical experience. For this reason, The College of Modern Montessori has 'Practicum Site Agreements' with a selection of Montessori schools in South Africa. In the event that a student has found a Montessori school at which he or she would like to undertake teaching practice and we do not yet have a practicum site agreement in place, we are happy to make the necessary arrangements.

7.2.2 Practicum Schedule & Attendance

Teaching Practice

- A total of 276 hours of teaching practice must be completed. As part time online students' available time is often limited by virtue of work and/or family obligations, the teaching practice course contingent can be completed, according to the student's schedule, over a minimum of one year and a maximum of two years.
- A minimum of 100 hours of teaching practice must be completed during the academic year for which the student is enrolled.
- The remainder can be completed during the following academic year.
- Students must complete a minimum of 100 hours of teaching practice in order to gain entrance to the final practical and theory examinations.

Observation

- Online students are required to complete all 60 observation hours (10 observations) during the academic year for which he/she is enrolled and submit the requisite reports and manual on the date specified by the lecturer/course director.

7.2.3 Practicum Evaluation and Expected Performance

Teaching Practice

- The supervising teachers of the practicum sites have undertaken the responsibility of observing the students they are hosting, and act as mentors for the students throughout the teaching practice experience.
- The supervising teacher completes a report on the student's performance at the end of each subject area and returns it to the course director/lecturer. The student is informed of his/her strengths, weaknesses and areas that require improvement.
- The student is required to evaluate his/her own performance after each teaching practice day and complete a report detailing the experience.
- The field supervisor makes an appointment with the principal/supervising teacher to visit the school at which the student is undertaking teaching practice. The field supervisor observes the student and evaluates student performance (e.g. the accuracy of presentations, his/her rapport with the child, confidence, enthusiasm etc). The field supervisor discusses the student's progress with the supervising teacher, and where possible, with the principal of the school. The field supervisor holds a feedback session with the student in order to discuss strengths, weaknesses and areas that require improvement. Each student has a minimum of 3 field supervisor visits throughout the teaching practice experience. Online students' field supervisor visits may happen remotely, depending on the circumstances.
- The total number of teaching practice hours undertaken by the student is recorded on the academic transcript, which accompanies the diploma.

Observation

- After each of the ten observations, the supervising teacher completes a report which evaluates the student's performance.
- An observation manual is compiled by the student, which details the findings of each individual observation.
- The total number of observation hours undertaken by the student is recorded on the academic transcript, which accompanies the diploma.

7.2.4 The Final Practical Examination

- For the practical examination, each student is allocated a time slot, at which point, he/she will be required to prove proficiency in the practical application of the following subject areas: Practical Life; Sensorial, Language, Mathematics, Cultural subjects and the Three Period Lesson.
- Students are randomly allocated a practical examination sheet comprised of two presentations per subject area. Students are required to choose one presentation per subject area to perform for the examiners.
- In addition to the presentation itself, each student is required to demonstrate knowledge on three preceding exercises and three exercises that follow the allocated presentation ('before and afters'), the direct aim, the indirect aim, the control of error and show general understanding.
- Students are required to pass each subject area, with a minimum grade of 60%.
- In the event of a student being awarded a grade of below 60% for more than one subject area, this will result in failure of the practical examination.

- Should a student be awarded a grade of below 60% for only one subject area, he/she will obtain another chance to perform the presentation, in addition to the second presentation (from the same subject area) listed on the practical examination sheet.
- The practical examination result accounts for  $\frac{1}{3}$  (one third) of the overall final course grade.

7.3 Additional Hours: Independent Study

Independent study can be described as any work undertaken outside of scheduled online lecture hours and time watching assigned downloads. For example, time spent preparing for tests, assignments, material making, examinations, research, private practice etc.

- Students are required to keep a log of all independent study hours undertaken. These records must be submitted to the lecturer/course director.
- The total number of independent study hours undertaken by the student is recorded on the academic transcript, which accompanies the diploma.
